AGENDA

1. Satisfaction survey for the Yalova Emergency Medicine Clinical Practice Meeting I – Sepsis Updates activity
2. Satisfaction survey for the session “Points to Consider in Associate Professorship Applications”
3. Evaluation of feedback from the “Statistics Training”
4. Evaluation of feedback from the “Problem-Based Learning (PBL) Train-the-Trainer” training programs

DECISIONS TAKEN:

1. Based on the comments received through the satisfaction survey administered to participants of the Yalova Emergency Medicine Clinical Practice Meeting I – Sepsis Updates activity, it was decided that no further corrective or preventive actions were required.
2. It was decided to develop a 5-point Likert-scale survey to gather participants’ opinions following the session “Points to Consider in Associate Professorship Applications.”

3. Following the “Statistics Training” organized by the Yalova University Continuing Education Center for faculty members, feedback indicated that future training programs should be organized by dividing the content into separate days or sessions based on specific topics. This recommendation will be taken into consideration in future training activities.
4. After the completion of the “Problem-Based Learning (PBL) Train-the-Trainer” activities, a satisfaction survey was administered to the participants. According to the survey results, the primary area identified for improvement was the duration of the training. In addition, based on the open-ended feedback, it is planned to increase the number of case examples used in future training sessions.

The meeting concluded with the wishes and recommendations section.
